Once upon a time, in a village by the sea,
there lived a little bear named Frankie. His bedroom was decorated with hanging stars and bunting spelling out his name. Work on these crafts with an adult, then decorate your room together.

SHOOTING STARS

MATERIALS

- Scissors
- Construction paper
- Pencil
- String
- Glue
- Ruler
- Decorative tape

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Cut out the star-shaped stencil from this page. Ask an adult if you need help with the scissors.
2. Use the pencil to trace the star shape on the construction paper in the colors of your choice. Frankie has six stars; how many will you make? You will need two cut-outs for each star, so if you also want six, trace twelve stars.
3. Cut out the traced stars from the construction paper. Sort them into pairs.
4. Use a ruler to measure out the strings. We recommend 12 to 24 inches long, but having them in various lengths is okay too.
5. Place the end of one piece of string in the middle of the cut-out star. Glue it in place and glue the second star on top of the string to cover it. Repeat until all your stars have a piece of string hanging out of them. Let the glue dry.
6. With a parent's permission and help, use decorative tape to tape the free end of the string to the ceiling.
